The Division of Extended Learning offers behavior management workshops that have been developed from years of experience and best practices in both traditional and nontraditional educational settings. The basic tenets of behavior management can apply to any classroom, school setting, or anywhere you deal with people. These user-friendly workshops break down behavior management into easily understood ideas and strategies.

Educators in all roles will learn to understand the basics of behavior and how to respond and react to challenging situations with students, staff, parents, board members, and community members. Attending these workshops as a group from your school or organization will help in the promotion and development of behavior plans best suited to fit your program’s specific behavior needs.

All courses have been created and will be taught by subject-matter experts. Courses are taught for Continuing Education Units (CEUs) at National University locations and can also be taught at offsite locations for school groups or organizations.

Behavior Management Workshops

It is suggested that students either participate in each of the four individual in-depth courses which make up the components of Behavior Blueprint or either of the Behavior Blueprint courses which are a condensed version of the other courses.

Teacher’s Role in Behavior

0.2 CEU; $75
In this two-hour workshop, participants explore their role in student behavior by identifying behavior management techniques, reinforcement and consequences currently used in the school, analyzing staff interactions with students, and evaluating communication of expectations to students. Synthesizing this information, participants develop an action plan of areas for relearning, research, and redesign.

Time: 8 a.m. – 10 a.m.; Location and Dates:
- South Bay: 7/9/09
- Los Angeles: 8/6/09

Decoding Student Behavior

0.6 CEUs; $200
In this six-hour workshop, participants learn to decode student behavior through hands-on tools. All behavior serves a purpose and participants will learn to determine what needs the student is meeting through misbehavior and how to convert that into positive behavior. Includes analysis/application of knowledge to determine cause of behavior and effective interventions.

Time: 11 a.m. – 5 p.m.; Location and Dates:
- South Bay: 7/9/09
- San Jose: 7/25/09
- Los Angeles: 8/6/09

Behavior Management Foundations

0.4 CEUs; $125
Two principles guide this four-hour workshop: “an engaged learner is a behaved learner” and behavior expectations need to be concise and memorable. Participants will learn to determine what needs the student is meeting through misbehavior and how to convert that into positive behavior. Includes analysis/application of knowledge to determine cause of behavior and effective interventions.

Time: 8 a.m. – noon; Location and Dates:
- South Bay: 7/10/09
- San Jose: 7/24/09
- Los Angeles: 8/7/09

Proactive Behavior Management

0.4 CEUs: $125
As an extension of Decoding Student Behavior, this four-hour workshop emphasizes proactive behavior management strategies for addressing student misbehavior. Participants explore antecedent control, environmental factors, and positive and negative reinforcement strategies. Participants identify behavior monitoring and student self-monitoring tools, identify reinforcement schedules for shaping desired behavior, and construct a classroom-wide model with monitoring procedures.

Time: 1 p.m. – 5 p.m.; Location and Dates:
- South Bay: 7/10/09
- San Jose: 7/24/09
- Los Angeles: 8/7/09

Your Behavior Blueprint – 1

0.8 CEUs: $250
This 8-hour overview course incorporates all components of effective behavior management. Participants determine specific learning goals through self-assessment, study the foundations of behavior management, and take an in-depth look at decoding behavior and implementing proactive strategies, culminating with the design of a master behavior management plan for their individual classroom.

Time: 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.; Location and Dates:
- South Bay: 7/11/09
- San Jose: 7/25/09
- Los Angeles: 5/9/09 and 8/8/09

Your Behavior Blueprint – 2

1.6 CEUs: $400
This 16-hour in-depth comprehensive course incorporates and develops all components of an effective behavior management plan. Participants determine specific individual learning goals, study foundations of behavior management, and practice decoding behavior and implementing proactive strategies. This course culminates with participants designing a master behavior management plan for their individual classroom.
