

December 4, 2020

Dear International Students,

We hope you are all healthy and doing well. As we near the end of the year we wanted to reach out and provide a very important update for Spring 2021.

SEVP has not issued updated guidance for the Spring 2021 term; therefore, the current guidance provided in August continues to be the current policy for international students and universities.

Our top priority continues to be the safety and well-being of our students, faculty, and staff. President Andrews sent a letter today to inform students, faculty, and staff that National University will continue remote operations and the suspension of on-site instruction for most courses until July 2021, and until further notice. I am writing to let you know that we will continue to work with our international students to explore additional solutions as needed.

Eric Abutin and I will be at the next Zoom International Student Coffee Hour to answer any questions. Thursday, December 10th at 11:00am | Zoom Meeting ID: 595 921 574

We continue to monitor and follow guidance from all government entities to ensure compliance with all federal regulations, as well as health and safety guidelines provided. We will also continue to share any additional updates and guidance with you.

Please contact International Affairs (iss@nu.edu) if you have any questions or are considering traveling in the near future for further guidance. Also, please visit NU's COVID website for more information and FAQs at nu.edu/coronavirus.

We are grateful and value each of you and your contributions to the National University community.

Best regards,

Melissa Diaz

Director, International Affairs
